The research colloquium of the research area Methods of Empirical Social Research and Analysis of Social Structures aims at the critical discussion of results from current research projects, methodological issues as well as didactical aspects of empirical social research. The event currently takes place as a brown bag session.

Contributions in summer semester 2022

21.04.2022 | Aus welchen Gründen wagen Frauen seltener einen Schritt in die Selbstständigkeit? (Ulrike Köpke) [in german language.]

02.06.2022 | „What is an Estimand?” (Adrian Greiner)

23.06.2022 | More Money, more power? How couples´ wealth and income inequality influence partners´ money management (Agneszka Althaber, Kathrin Leuze)

14.07.2022 | Lessons learned from half a year of cooperation (Jan Klusáček)

08.09.2022 | Origin-specific choice of field of study (Björn Seipelt, Kathrin Leuze)

22.09.2022 | Theoretical considerations within the concept of developmental tasks (Charlotte Büchner)

13.10.2022 | Bayesian model averaging (Mariana Nold)